HONOR

Laying our Nation's veterans and their eligible family members to rest with dignity and honor, while treating their loved ones with respect and compassion, is the cornerstone of Arlington National Cemetery's mission.

As you walk through the cemetery, you may see a horse-drawn caisson carrying an American flag-draped casket, hear the firing of three rifle volleys in the distance, or feel a lump in your throat as a lone bugler plays the 24 lingering notes of Taps. These honors remind us of service, sacrifice and valor – and are examples of the dignified way we take care of those who have defended and protected our freedoms.

REMEMBER

Monuments, memorials and dedicated trees commemorating individuals and significant events in our Nation's history are interspersed throughout the cemetery among the headstones of service members for whom Arlington is the final resting place. They honor events and members from all branches of the military, and also pay respect to astronauts, nurses, chaplains, war correspondents and unknown, just to name a few. These men and women will never be forgotten – their legacies will live on and forever be a part of our national fabric.

The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, one of Arlington's most well-known memorials, includes the remains of unknown service members from the World War I, World War II and the Korean War. Soldiers from the 3d U.S. Infantry Regiment (The Old Guard) keep a 24-hours-a-day, 365-days-a-year vigil at the Tomb, with an elaborate ritual to change the guard every hour (or half-hour from April 1 through September 30).

EXPLORE

Arlington National Cemetery encapsulates America's history – a living tribute to our Nation's past and how it continues to thrive through the service and sacrifice of those willing to dedicate their life to its ideals.

We encourage you to use ANC Explorer, a web-based application to locate gravesites and places of interest, obtain walking directions and photos, and find events. The app is available on the cemetery's website, on-site kiosks or through online app stores.

While here, be sure to explore America's rich history, witness the time-honored ceremonies, and take in the scenic grounds and landscapes. We also hope you make time to visit areas less traveled – wander through the headstones and monuments, reflect on the names, and ponder the stories each person could tell.

A BIT OF HISTORY

Arlington National Cemetery is comprised of land that once belonged to George Washington Parke Custis, grandson of Martha Washington and step-grandson of George Washington. In 1857, Custis willed the 1,100-acre property to his daughter Mary Anna Randolph Custis, who was married to Robert E. Lee. After the Lee family vacated the estate in 1861 at the onset of the Civil War, federal troops occupied the property as a camp and headquarters.

In 1863, the government established Freedman's Village on a portion of the estate as a way to assist slaves transitioning to freedom. The village provided housing, education, training, and medical care.

As the number of Civil War casualties was outpacing other local Washington, D.C.-based cemeteries, the property became a burial location. The first military burial took place on May 13, 1864, for Private William Christman. On June 15, the War Department officially set aside approximately 200 acres of the property to use as a cemetery. By the end of the war, thousands of service members and former slaves were buried here. Ultimately, the Lee family was compensated for the property and the land remained with the War Department.

ARLINGTON TODAY

Arlington National Cemetery has evolved from a place of necessity to a national shrine to those who have honorably served our Nation during times of war – including every military conflict in American history – and during times of peace. The cemetery is the final resting place for more than 400,000 active duty service members, veterans and their families. "Service to country" is the common thread that binds all who are honored and remembered here.

The cemetery remains active with funeral services Monday through Saturday (except federal holidays), conducting between 27 and 30 services each week day and between 6 and 8 services each Saturday. Information on burial eligibility and military honors is available on the cemetery's website.

More than 3,000 ceremonies and memorial services also take place at the cemetery each year, including national observances for Memorial Day and Veterans Day held at the Memorial Amphitheater.
